Once a guarantee has been given there are no more revisions in food and beverage services should your number decrease. When no guarantee is given, the estimated number of attendees at the time of booking is taken as a guarantee for billing purposes. The convener undertakes to pay the quoted rate for the number guaranteed or in attendance, whichever is greater. Should the number of guests confirmed differ greatly from the original quote, the hotel reserves the right to substitute an alternative room suited to the group size.

Prices

Menu prices and room rental rates are current and are guaranteed for your contract date and are subject to change thereafter. All food, beverage and banquet rooms are also subject to applicable taxes and service charge.

The time frame stated on your contract refers to the time in which you have access to the room and the time that the room should be vacated. If your function should run over the allotted time, please advise management and if possible we will accommodate you.

Loss or Damage

The hotel is not responsible for any loss or damage to property that is left in any function room or surrounding areas. The hotel reserves the right to inspect any on-going functions. Any problems or concerns that arise during the event must be reported immediately to Banquet Coordinator in order for an adjustment. The McIntosh Country Inn will not be responsible for problems reported after termination of rental period.
